This sweet boy is the first to greet you from the pasture. He still looks like a youngster but its easy to see he is going to grow up into a very handsome and strong man. This is a horse that is just genuinely happy, laid back, and content. He is matured beyond his years and that alone should take him a very long way in training for a new career. He is looking to do something else for one reason and one reason only, he was slow! The race world wasn't for him. He would make a great jumper or just a laid back trail horse. He has been to Salamonie trails 2 times and can lead the group or stay behind and follow. He is still a bit spooky experiencing these things for the first time but he is more than willing. He would be a great hunter jumper. He jumps down trees on the trails with such ease. He is shod on all four. Still needs work but would make a great horse for intermediate or advanced rider. videos upon request
