Atlas is a beautiful Clydesdale gelding that I bought about a year ago. He will be two in January. He is currently a little under 17 hands and is projected to be over 18 hands once he is full grown. Atlas is unbelievably friendly and has had basic groundwork done throughout the past year. Atlas has been saddled multiple times and worked on the ground but still needs more training. He has been very receptive to all training I have done thus far and has a lot of potential to be great driving or riding horse in the future. I am only selling because I am moving to Hawaii and do not want to risk moving him that distance. He has a very loving personality and I want to find him a new home with people that will love being around him and working with him as much as I do.
